C. of C. Secretary Calls For United Civic Effort

The key to a successful program of civic improvement is a united effort through the Chamber of Commerce, Ronald Leigh, newly-appointed executive secretary, declared when he addressed 95 members and guests at Chamber luncheon meeting Monday at the Lape Hotel.

Mr. Leigh, who said he was anxious to assume his new duties here April 1, said he was impressed by the friendliness of the people he had met and by the city's evidence of a desire to progress.

Campanella's Son Held After Gang Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — A son of former Dodger catcher Roy Campanella and 17 other youths were arrested Monday after a gang fight.

David Campanella, 15, was charged with juvenile delinquency.

Police said he was a leader of a gang called "the Chaplains," who challenged another gang to a fight over "rights" to hang around a bowling alley in Flushing, Queens.

Police said the gangs arranged to meet Monday, to settle the issue.

Police spotted about 30 boys in a vacant lot and investigated. Six who were fighting, including Campanella, were taken in with 12 others.

Campanella and three others under 16 were charged with juvenile delinquency. The older boys were charged with disorderly conduct. No one was injured.

Police said "the Chaplains" gang was made up largely of Negro and Spanish-speaking youths. Campanella is a Negro. The other boys involved in the fight were white.

He and two of the boys picked

Group May Act on Stewart Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) said today the Senate Judiciary Committee may decide next month on a date for hearings on the nomination of Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart.

Stewart took his place on the court last October under a recess appointment after the retirement of Justice Harold H. Burton.

Stewart's nomination for the post was submitted to the Senate Jan. 17, ten days after Congress convened, and is subject to confirmation by the Senate.

Eastland said that at the committee's next meeting, tentatively scheduled for March 2, he hopes to find out when it would be convenient to have the hearings.

There have been no signs so far of any opposition to Stewart's nomination.

A Cincinnati, Ohio, Republican, Stewart was a judge on the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals when President Eisenhower elevated him to the Supreme Court.

He had been appointed to the Appeals court by Eisenhower in April 1954. The Senate confirmed that nomination in less than three weeks.

FLOOD EMERGENCY OVER

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—The flood emergency was ended officially here Monday by Lee Corn, Chairman of the Trumbull County Red Cross chapter. He said the last of the evacuees sheltered by the Red Cross had returned to their homes or were living with friends. More than 2,000 persons were cared for at Red Cross shelters during the floods in January and early February.

Proxmire Move Gets No Backing

Attempt To Curb Sen. Johnson Fails

WASHINGTON (AP) — A campaign by Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.) to clip the authority of Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas remained a one-man effort today.

No other senator publicly backed Proxmire's demand in the Senate Monday for revival of party caucuses to direct and control the party leaders. He said

Johnson is exercising "immense powers" without responsibility to anybody but the voters of Texas.

Proxmire, who himself once praised Johnson as the second most powerful man in government, said he will discuss in a later speech the implications of Johnson's leadership "and the power it has generated."

Behind the scenes there were other Democrats who obviously agreed with Proxmire that they have surrendered to Johnson sweeping authority never before so concentrated in a party chieftain. But these Democrats avoided publicly airing their views.

Proxmire himself said in an interview he had been told by some other Senators they were in sympathy with his views. But he said he wouldn't name them publicly.

He said he hadn't discussed his speech in advance with Democratic colleagues because "I felt it wouldn't be fair to involve them in something that might make difficulties for them with the leadership."

In this connection, one Democratic critic of Proxmire who didn't want his name used, quipped that the Wisconsin senator had picked Washington's Birthday to "make his farewell address."

Will Bend Over Backwards

Senators most familiar with Johnson's operations said, however, they expect the majority leader to bend over backwards in public efforts to demonstrate he is being fair to Proxmire and others who may view his leadership as something less than fully satisfactory to them.

Johnson himself was in Texas, confined to his home with influenza. Aides said it was not likely he would have any public comment.

Proxmire's chief complaint was that the individual Democrats have no voice in determining which legislation is to be brought before the Senate for a vote.

Johnson operates in such instances with a nine-member policy committee he heads and whose members he appoints. Some Senate liberals feel this group is weighted on the conservative side.

Girl, 3, 'Satisfactory' After Heart Surgery

CLEVELAND (AP)—Penny Stinner, 3-year-old Findlay girl who had her heart operated on Monday, was being kept on the danger list today at Marymount Hospital here, even though her condition was listed as "very satisfactory."

Surgeons fixed a congenital defect, an opening between the lower chambers of Penny's heart.

Members of the armed forces provided 20 pints of blood used in the operation. A heart-lung machine took over functions of Penny's heart during the operation.

A hospital spokesman said it will be three or four days before the child will be taken off the danger list.

Town Hall Tonight

A movie travelogue on France will be shown by Kenneth Richter at the Salem Town Hall program tonight at 8:15 in the Junior High School auditorium. A mistake in last night's paper indicated the program was Monday night. The program is tonight, however. The Town Hall meetings are public entertainment, without charge.

Reuther Bucks Meany Policy

AFL-CIO Leaders Form Uneasy Truce

SAJUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—AFL-CIO leaders emerged with an uneasy truce today after a revolt by Walter Reuther against Meany's one-man direction of federation policies.

It wasn't exactly clear who had won. But Reuther and other leaders of the former CIO felt their voices would be reflected more in the policies of the merged, 14-million-member organization.

For one thing, it looks now as if the Washington meeting the AFL-CIO is planning to underline America's unemployment problem will be along more spectacular lines as urged by Reuther. It probably won't be the mass march of unemployed Reuther first proposed, but it will likely be more of a show than the strictly legislative conference of union officials Meany advocated.

The revolt had boiled for a week behind the scenes of the annual winter meeting of the AFL-CIO Executive Council. It began when Meany—head of the old AFL—chided Reuther—head of the old CIO—for holding a session of the Economic Policy Committee while Meany was delayed in Washington by a cold. Meany was reported angry at Reuther's unemployment march project.

Reuther, chairman of the economic committee, retorted that Meany had never attended economic policy meetings. Anyway, the red-haired Auto Workers Union chief said, as chairman he should have a relatively free hand at mapping economic policy, at least in the committee stage.

Reuther said if he couldn't run the economic committee, he might as well quit the post.

Reuther was backed by James B. Carey, No. 2 man in the federation's CIO faction. The meeting got so hot that Meany ordered Carey to leave his seat. The scarping Carey refused.

Meany, Reuther and other high federation officials failed to resolve the conflict as two secret breakfast meetings. A showdown session was held Monday night.

Meany declined to comment afterward. Reuther told newsmen: "Nobody ever talked about busting up anything—there are understandings now on things where there were misunderstandings before."

Columbiana County's 1,720 4-H club members will take part in observing National 4-H Club Week, Feb. 28 to March 7, according to Don Myers, county 4-H club agent.

Among the special events planned is the county 4-H rally which will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the Lisbon High School gymnasium.

All 4-H members, past and present, advisors and parents are invited to this rally, Myers said.

Utility Rate Bill Introduced

Lawmakers To Ponder Tavern Point System

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bad-point system for tavern keepers and a new method of figuring utility rates were in the Ohio Legislative works today.

The proposed rate bill could reduce monthly utility bills. The point system could be the weapon to drive the undesirable out of the tavern business in Ohio.

The bills were among 32 introduced Monday night as lawmakers returned to Columbus for their eighth work week.

A few hours before the week's sessions opened officially, the policy committee of the Democratic-dominated House heard a strong endorsement of a two-cent tax increase on gasoline and diesel fuel to finance a continuation of the state's big highway construction program.

The endorsement came from

5 Women In Close Race For 31st Oscar Awards

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The spotlight was on the ladies today in Hollywood's annual carnival of Oscars.

For the first time in years, there was no clear-cut favorite actress. Not a tinted hair separates these five:

Elizabeth Taylor (Cat on a Hot Tin Roof); Susan Hayward (I Want to Live!); Deborah Kerr (Separate Tables); Shirley MacLaine (Some Came Running); and Rosalind Russell (Auntie Mame).

With the men, the story is different. David Niven and Spencer Tracy were established as odds-on favorites with Niven given a slight edge in the early betting.

Niven was nominated for his role as the pathetic woman molester in "Separate Tables" and Tracy, up for his third Oscar, was nominated for his one man show in "The Old Man and the Sea."

Tony Curtis and Sidney Poitier, who went through "The Defiant Ones" handcuffed to each other, are expected to cancel each other out of the running by their well matched performances.

The fifth male nominee is Paul Newman for "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof."

Radio Signal Spurs Search for Doctors

LITTLETON, N.H. (AP) — A faint radio message today gave searchers hope that two doctors missing on a plane flight are still alive somewhere in the rugged, snow-covered White Mountains area.

Ground and air search teams today concentrated their hunt for Dr. Ralph E. Miller, 60, and Dr. Robert E. Quinn, 32, in the eight-mile area between Mt. Agassiz and Franconia Notch.

Dr. Karl Steady, 55, a Laconia osteopathic physician and member of the Civil Air Patrol, reported he received fragments of a wireless signal Monday which read "Agassiz" and "Nitch."

Mt. Agassiz, some 2,000 feet high, is east of Littleton's abandoned Lewis Airport near where a 19-year-old girl reportedly heard a low-flying airplane Saturday. Drs. Miller and Quinn disappeared Saturday returning to Berlin from a 70-mile mercy flight to Berlin. They had gone to Berlin to treat a heart patient.

Russian Says Reunification Not Big 4 Issue

Repeats Warning Against Violating E. German Borders

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, emerging from two days of talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, threw cold water today on the West's plan for a four-power meeting on Germany.

Khrushchev told a political rally in the Kremlin that the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and France cannot discuss German reunification because "this is a question for the two German states themselves."

A four-power meeting at the foreign minister level, as suggested by the West, might increase instead of reduce international tension, Khrushchev declared.

Khrushchev conceded that the four powers could discuss prevention of militarism in West and East Germany. But he then restated the Soviet stand that reunification should be settled only by the Germans themselves.

He also repeated the Soviet proposal for a conference of heads of government of all those nations that waged war against Hitler in World War II to work out a treaty with Germany.

The Western powers rejected this proposal in their recent notes calling for a four-power meeting on Germany at the foreign ministers level.

Khrushchev warned that any violation of the East German borders in the dispute over West Berlin would be considered an act of aggression against the Warsaw Pact powers.

While Khrushchev was speaking in the Kremlin, the visiting Macmillan was sightseeing.

Macmillan called off a hunting trip scheduled for Wednesday, and planned a full day of informal talk with the Soviet leader at the British Embassy's villa outside Moscow.

The sightseeing today was with a purpose, a motor trip 90 miles to Khrushchev, Page 7

Mother Says She Can't Break Son, 2, Of Smoking Habit

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — A 2-year-old Peoria boy about a month ago picked up a lighted cigarette and smoked it. Next day he wanted another. He got it.

Now the little tot, Lawrence Smith, smokes five cigarettes a day. His mother, Mrs. Lawrence Smith, says she is worried because she can't break him of the habit.

"I've tried," Mrs. Smith said. "But Lawrence cries and cries until he gets his cigarettes. He wants his 'smoke.'"

Mrs. Smith, a divorcee who works as a waitress, said she is going to take her son to a doctor to find out why he likes to smoke cigarettes.

Mrs. Smith, who said she doesn't smoke, said she believed Lawrence picked up the habit from the baby sister she employs for the little fellow.

The mother tried to substitute candy cigarettes for the real thing. But it was no go.

Lawrence doesn't light the cigarettes he smokes. That's a job for either his mother or the baby sister.

"There's a danger from fire if he lights his cigarettes himself," Mrs. Smith said.

Lawrence is careful with the ashes. He even carries an ash tray in his tricycle.

Castro Acts To Clean Up School Graft

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government acted today to clean up graft in the nation's school system and hospital construction program.

The Cabinet approved a decree annulling hundreds of teachers' appointments to primary schools. They included 400 named by ex-President Fulgencio Batista and many others chosen by his education minister.

The Cabinet charged that many of the Batista appointments were for political purposes only and that some teachers drew pay for doing nothing.

The new law also set up a promotion scale for teachers.

The Cabinet authorized expenditure of $2,155,000 to complete 10 hospitals on which more than 16 million dollars already has been spent.

The government charged the expenditures to date were 60 per cent in excess of the real value. It said the contracts had been rented for personal gain and that some projects were unfinished after 14 years. It ordered the old contracts canceled and new ones issued.

The government also ordered suspension of pension payments to former congressmen who have been getting $500 a month.

LISBON—The Columbiana County Board of Health, meeting Monday night at the Courthouse, approved a budget of $54,748.12 for next year for operation of the County Health Department.

The budget is over $10,000 more than this year's budget of $44,300, which forced the board to release a nurse and a plumbing inspector because of insufficient funds.

The board felt the 1960 budget should be adequate to return the health department's complement to full strength. If the necessary funds aren't available, board members declared, they will ask the county commissioners to place a two-tenth mill on the election ballots.

Two previous levies were voted down by county residents. The budget will be presented to the Health Advisory Council for its

Former Executioner Fled to Dominican Republic

Major Ventura Was Batista's 'Butcher'

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second of three stories on the activities of police and other agents who operated under the Batista regime in Cuba, both before and during the Castro revolution. Some of this information was reported by the Associated Press last April; some other aspects became known in the wake of Batista's flight into exile.

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

HAVANA (AP)—About a year ago a Havana lawyer obtained a writ for the release of a man held by the national police on a charge of terrorism. He waited at the appointed place and time for the prisoner.

An auto bearing official license plates drove up. The lifeless body of his client was pushed out onto the pavement. An impeccably dressed man in his 40s, mustache and pleasant of visage, stepped out. He was the national police chief, Maj. Esteban Ventura. He told the lawyer:

"Here is your habeas corpus."

Apocryphal as that may sound, Cubans familiar with the well-dressed policeman consider the story an understatement on his cruelty.

Maj. Ventura once worked as a butcher. Leaders of the Castro regime call him Fulgencio Batista's chief executioner. They view him as the drum major in a procession of violence that, by Fidel Castro's estimate, killed 20,000 Cubans.

The revolutionary government is seeking his extradition as a refugee from justice. He fled to the Dominican Republic when the Batista regime collapsed Jan. 1.

Ventura ran a tough police force that sat as judge and jury at the 5th and 9th police precincts in Havana.

Supplementing his activities were those of the dreaded SIM agents. SIM, the Military Investigation Service, operated a house of horror at the Bureau of Investigation. Prisoners brought to these places readily confessed to revolutionary activities. Many did not live to repudiate these confessions.

Ventura's chief chamber of operations was the 5th precinct station on Havana's East Side. Political prisoners and others suspected of rebel sympathies were brought to this filthy, dark basement. It has five 10x12 bare cells, with small double-barred windows and one smaller windowless cell. All lack beds, faucets or drain. The walls are marked with stains which Castro investigators ascribe to the force of bullwhips or other leather weapons.

Prisoners were dumped into this basement through three rectangular openings, which also serve as drains, in a street level patio. Agents entered the basement through a secret circular stairway.

This is the story told by Israel Hernandez, 26, a guard at the 5th precinct station.

Several nights a week Ventura's agents, dressed as peasants, would arrive by auto. They would bring torture weapons to the cellar through the secret entry.

"We never saw them on the main floor of the building. Soon we would hear muffled screams and cracks of the bullwhips. Nobody upstairs said anything. We all pretended not to hear. Neighbors who could hear never complained. It would have been foolish.

"Later on duty downstairs we could see for ourselves what had been going on."

Agents also worked over suspects in streets and homes. One case was summarized at the recent trial of several policemen:

The policemen broke down the door at 171 Continental St. last April. They yanked two students from bed, stood them facing a wall and shot them. Their money and an automobile were taken. Next day the police took away the furniture and sold it to a second hand dealer.

Even the sacrosanct sphere of the Havana Bar Assn. did not escape the wrath of Ventura's police force.

The minutes of a meeting Feb. 18, 1958, show that the association unanimously agreed to petition the government to call new elections, because it considered the existing regime "a factor of discord and disorder."

For this effort, the association's headquarters were raided and documents seized.

Guarding Your Health

By Dr. EDWIN P. JORDAN

'Ordinary' Measles is Not a Mild Disease

Mrs. S. asks for a discussion of the difference between German measles and ordinary measles. It is generally understood, she says, that there are more bad effects from German measles than from the other type.

It is unfortunate that these two diseases have names which are so much alike. Both are almost certainly caused by viruses, but the viruses are different and infection with one does not stimulate the body to build resistance to the other.

By and large, measles is probably a more serious disease than German measles.

This statement must be qualified, however, because a mother who acquires German measles during the first three months of a pregnancy is more likely (but not certain) to have a child born with a congenital defect than a mother who does not have this disease at that stage of pregnancy.

MEASLES IS not the simple, mild disease which so many people seem to believe. While it is true that most people who have it recover without serious complications, this is not always the case.

In fact, there are many years when more youngsters die from measles than from polio — and this was true before the development of the polio vaccine.

Measles often also causes serious complications such as bronchopneumonia or bronchitis. Even when mild, the 500,000 or so who have measles each year are kept out of school or other activity for quite some time.

THE EYES, too, should be protected during the early acute phase of the disease to avoid complications.

The cause of measles is a virus. This tiny living organism is present in the secretions of the mouth and nose during the first few days when a person is "coming down" with the disease.

A sneeze or cough will carry the virus into the air where it can be breathed in by anyone else around. This makes measles especially contagious even before the skin rash appears.

It is difficult to avoid exposure once an outbreak of measles has started in a school, barracks or similar situation. If it does occur, one has to consider the use of a substance known as immune or gamma globulin. If this is given at just the right time to a youngster it tends to make the disease mild and still permit the body to build resistance.

Prisoners were dumped into this basement through three rectangular openings, which also serve as drains, in a street level patio. Agents entered the basement through a secret circular stairway.

This is the story told by Israel Hernandez, 26, a guard at the 5th precinct station.

ABEL

"And it came to pass, when they were in the field, that Cain rose up against Abel his brother, and slew him."

—Genesis 4:8

Abel, the second son of Adam and Eve, was the first innocent victim of man's envy and man's passion.

He was born after his parents' fall, and their expulsion from Eden, the paradise God had created for the souls of men.

Yet, though he inherited the nature of evil, Abel leaned toward what was good in man's dual nature.

Even Jesus later spoke of him as "righteous Abel." He was the first, after the fall, to find favor with God because of his devotion to what was good. The sacred narrative tells us that "he also brought of the firstlings of his flock and of the fat thereof" as an offering to God.

Things of the spirit came first with Abel. "And the Lord had respect unto Abel and to his offering."

But Cain was jealous of his brother's goodness and acceptance by God. "And his countenance fell."

The Lord asked Cain, "Why art thou wroth? Why is thy countenance fallen?" The Scripture does not record any reply to this question. No doubt Cain had none. Instead, he did as men have done so often ever since when confronted with a person or a talent superior to their own. He plotted to injure or destroy it.

So, when Cain and Abel were in the field, "Cain rose up against Abel his brother and slew him."

The story of Cain and Abel, as told in Genesis, does not describe the feelings of Adam and Eve when they learned for the first time the awful fact of death.

But ancient Jewish writers say that they mourned beside his body for several days. Would life return? Did he only sleep?

No, it was not sleep but the other. It was the terrible mystery, the dark brother to sleep, the fearful shadow that has fallen across man's path ever since.

As Adam and Eve sat pondering the tragedy, so the story goes, a raven lit on the ground not far from them and buried a dead bird in the earth.

Thus they knew for the first time that man's physical body is of the earth and should be returned to the earth.

DiSalle Says Office Is 'Just Like Home'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says he has about as much to say in changing office furniture as he has at home.

Oil paintings of former governors in his State House office were changed, he said, "without my permission, without my knowledge and against my express orders."

Building Supt. Wilbur Gallagher shifted the pictures last week while DiSalle attended a day-long meeting of Ohioans to discuss creation of a new state department.

Removed were portraits of former Republican Govs. John W. Bricker, Thomas J. Herbert and Myers Y. Cooper.

They were replaced by pictures of former Govs. A. V. (Vic) Donahy, James M. Cox and Judson, all Democrats.

The picture of another Democratic governor, George White, remained.

Laughing about the change, Ohio's Democrat governor said "I'm furious. He runs my office."

DiSalle said he is still using former Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill's personal desk because the superintendent won't move it out.

"We have had another desk here a month," DiSalle related. "He doesn't like it so he won't move it in."

"It is just like being at home. I can't change any furniture there either."

DiSalle conceded that the substitute desk is not as good as the one he is using, but he added: "But what difference does it make? I never see the top of it anyway."

Gallagher moved pictures of the Republican governors into the reception room outside DiSalle's office.

"We slipped one over on him that time," the superintendent said. He added that the governor has been too busy for him to change desks.

As Prices Rise, So Do Government Problems

It's Your Pocketbook

By FAYE HENLE
(NEA Staff Writer)

Frankly I'm amazed at the fare that gets dished up at me when I'm a dinner guest.

The other night the man at my elbow asked: "What do you think about the possibility of price controls as a measure to fight inflation?"

"Controls on prices and wages in peacetime?" I gasped.

The solid citizen who addressed me, and who to the best of my knowledge has no more access to "inside Washington" than you, firmly pursued his point:

"I said price controls, not price-wage controls," he insisted. "This is not the kind of a government that will be able to dictate to labor."

In the cold light of morning, I find his question most revealing.

To any of us who have studied all of the President's utterances during the past month, it is becoming clear that in order to achieve price stability some sort of discipline must be imposed.

I HARDLY BELIEVE the disciplinary measures will include price controls because the President is not merely urging an all-out fight against inflation. Instead he is calling for "a program of economic growth with price stability."

Until inflation is a far more immediate threat, until we have achieved full employment and the price of labor is bid up because there are more jobs to be done than people to do them, I don't think we'll see anything as rigid as price or wage ceilings.

Frankly, I don't envy the President's plight. His position really is not much different from yours.

In order to keep your household going, to maintain the front you need to succeed in business, you have to buy all kinds of things.

You have to pay the going price for what you buy. If you don't have the cash — and often even if you do — you use credit.

To keep the government going — just to provide for defense and for the expansion needed to keep pace with our population growth — the government must spend.

It, too, buys on an open market, paying the going price. And when the government runs out of cash it must go into debt.

WHEN THE government goes into debt, it assumes in considerable measure the blame for inflation because it increases the supply of money.

But have you ever given a thought to this: the government does not always — and most especially when it buys defense items — have as wide a choice of suppliers as you do.

The government is heavily committed to a "Buy American Act" in order not to bypass suppliers whose facilities must be maintained because they are vital to national defense irrespective of whether it costs the government more to purchase an American item than a foreign one.

As we up prices, we up the need for government spending. The money we as citizens put into one pocket, we take out of another. It is our money that the government spends.

No one has accurately estimated how much the "Buy American Act" costs the taxpayer, but I've heard 70 million dollars mentioned for just the limited area of defense procurement

Statistical Assault on Washington

Before the dog-day hush descends on Washington next August, every economic theorist with the strength to mutter "Adam Smith" will have had a chance to speak his piece in Washington. "Economics" will be the password.

There will be a Cabinet committee headed by Vice President Nixon studying costs and prices. Another blue ribbon committee headed by Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of the Economic Advisory Council, will study the same subject, under the same auspices.

Meanwhile, it is a safe bet the headlines will be stolen by the Joint Congressional Economic Committee, under the direction of Sen. Douglas of Illinois and under the encouraging eye of Sen. Johnson of Texas, the majority leader. It was Johnson's idea last December to make 1959 the year for economic soul-searching that started the newest statistical assault on Washington.

IT IS INTERESTING to note in advance the findings that almost certainly will be made by the Douglas searchers in the fields of inquiry they intend to cover.

They will find that unemployment is too high, production is too low and prices too high.

They will find the Eisenhower administration does not understand the new type of economy that calls for going into debt and giving people what they want at any price.

They will find monopoly is a bad thing.

They will find that unionism is a good thing and it is of no consequence that unionism can cheapen the value of money by making wage rates go up and up and up whether productivity goes up at the same rate or not. They will find it is good for the government and good for the people to spend more than politicians dare to tax.

Generally speaking, they will find that full employment, adequate growth and reasonably stable prices can be guaranteed by doing what the government is doing now, but with more emphasis on what Democrats want to do and less emphasis on what Republicans want to do.

THE PREDICTION is made without prejudice to the splendid corps of statisticians who will march on Washington with digits flying and charts finalized according to the latest reliable information, which sometimes will be only six months old.

They and the economists who will order them into action and tell them what is to be proved and disproved are invaluable. But whether these worthies are working for congressional investigation, cabinet investigators, or presidential economic advisers, they will come to Washington with their minds made up and will be sponsored in Washington by people whose minds have been made up.

There will be no objectivity in their inquiries.

They will be looking for proof not information.

And therefore there will be no agreement among them. They might as well spend the time between now and dog days looking for a vacation spot where a 1959 dollar will buy a 1939-dollar meal. Then they could go there and tell the world about Shangri-la at a dollar a word.

CARE Packages for Michiganders

If you know any state employees depending on the new dispensation up Michigan way, now is the time to start stowing away the makings of a CARE package.

The first state to take up "socialism in our time," as the saying goes, has staggered through a winter money crisis by asking some of its biggest corporate taxpayers to pay what they owe in advance. But it has now robbed Peter to pay Paul, in effect. It will have a springtime money crisis, then a summertime crisis etc.

Instead of going into deficit financing, the way the big welfare state in Washington does it, Michigan is borrowing against future income. But eventually it will have borrowed up to the limit of its credit — and then will come the real showdown. That's when Michigan payrollers will need helping hands.

Political critics of Gov. G. Mennen Williams are claiming it is all his fault, and he is, indeed, not without fault. Williams is now in his 11th year as governor. During the greater part of his service, he has been running more or less obviously for a Democratic presidential nomination as the darling of the United Auto Workers under Walter Reuther. Granted that his state has had a full share of unemployment trouble, Gov. Williams would have to grant in turn that Michigan always has had a full share of unemployment trouble; he cannot claim his administration was caught by surprise.

The point to any reference to Michigan's troubles right now is obvious. No one wants to hurt the feelings of the fine people of Michigan, or their personable and ambitious young governor. The sole purpose is to focus nationwide attention on a "welfare state" that has come to the end of the line. There is a moral to be made of Michigan's experience with the problems that come home to roost when a welfare state runs short of money.

Take It Easy, Senator Young

There is a strong first inclination to stand up and shout "Amen!" to Ohio's new senator's blast against waste in civil defense.

On second thought, Sen. Young had better take it easy lest he leave the impression that civil defense is a wrong conception in its entirety and should be abandoned as a money-saving move.

We do not believe he means to leave that impression.

Civil defense is a wonderful way to piddle away money — not as wonderful as the weird and wonderful confusion of missile development, but wonderful enough to attract lots of parasites, drones, chowderheads and greedy Guses.

Much of the money spent on it so far, which Sen. Young says would total half a billion dollars in the last nine years, has been wasted. But that is where a critic should pause to take a second thought.

Much of the money spent on fire prevention in the last nine years has been wasted, too, in the sense that it has been a precautionary expense. A fire extinguisher that never was used is not a net waste.

Millions of Americans have been given a thin edge of security by civil defense. Some of them, more apprehensive than the ordinary run, have developed a wide margin of security. And all of them have had somewhat more security than they were aware of — enough to convince a potential enemy that hysteria and helplessness wouldn't be the automatic consequences of an attack on the United States.

That was part of the idea, too. By its very nature, civil defense is an easy target for criticism. It is the kind of thing that is calculated to make sparks fly whenever it rubs against the flinty realism of hard-bitten characters who want a dollar's worth of results for every dollar spent.

If Ohio's Sen. Young is interested in flogging some of the fat off civil defense, the best of luck to him. But if his idea is to pull the props from under the whole thing because he objects to some of its errors, he had better take another look.

A refreshing twist in crime routines came in New York's attempted gem robbery when victims tuned on the bandits and beat them up in a scene out of a cowboy "western." For a change the stickup men wound up on the losing end. The hoodlums had guns and used them. But their victims blitzed them with chairs, fists, assorted furnishings and even a phone ripped from the wall and used as a guided missile. All four jewelers were middle-aged, one 70 years old. But they looked into the pistols without winking. Two of them, wounded, stayed in there slugging until the cops arrived, swept up the battered bandits and carried them to the pokey, where they looked in need of a proclamation declaring them a devastated area. There was no demand for a return bout.

Looking through famous quotes from Abe Lincoln we ran across this "I don't like cut and dried sermons. When I hear a preacher I want him to appear to be fighting bumblebees."

Pattern In Education

By RAYMOND MOLEY

It has been generally noted that one result of enforced integration in public schools is the retreat of parents, opposed to federal policy to the alternative of private schools. In Virginia, where the effort of state authority to maintain segregation in public education has yielded to court orders, Gov. J. Lindsay Almond has already gone a considerable way in the encouragement of private education.

This, as it is explained, will be accomplished in part by tuition aid from the state government for pupils who attend private schools, and, beyond that, by parents who are willing to assume the expense in addition to the taxes they pay for public schools. This pattern may in the long run be adopted all over the South.

THIS MANIFESTATION of individual responsibility for education should suggest to all of us that the public school system, hailed over the generations in thousands of orations as the one and only cradle of democracy, has never been exactly that. Private schools have supplemented public education in all the years since education was, in fact, all private.

In the past 18 years, the relative attendance at private schools in the United States has increased at a very much higher rate than public school attendance. This was happening long before the issue was raised by the Supreme Court in 1954.

This growth has in part been due to increasing doubt about the quality of public school education — a doubt justified by a rising array of facts concerning what is being taught by modern educators and how they are teaching it.

The inadequacy of what is taught and how it is taught is especially notable in the large centers of population where control and scrutiny of schools have moved farther and farther from the parents.

IN CITIES like New York, Chicago, and Philadelphia, what the children are taught and who shall teach them are vested in a vast governmental bureaucracy. The old days when parents visited the schools on stated days conferred with teachers as a matter of course and made it a major concern to keep a sharp eye on what was going on at school are quite remote from present conditions.

Parents not only have grown more conscious of this remoteness but in thousands of cases are willing at their own expense to exercise freedom of choice as to the sort of children with whom they want their children to associate.

Moreover, parents who regard sound religious training in the faith of their fathers as essential have preferred privately supported parochial schools.

To make such choices on their own is an American right.

Millions have moved from the cities to the suburbs because they have preferred schools which can be more closely watched by parents.

It is undeniable that an essential function of modern free government is to provide education for all at public expense and also to compel attendance by all at some school.

But to force all children into public schools would be the supreme act of totalitarianism.

Hence, the American solution is to provide such public education but at the same time to permit those whose preference is private schooling to make use of it at their expense.

Christ's Trial Illegal

By DON HOENSELL

LANSING, Mich. A prominent state lawyer is preparing a fighting case for the defense — in the sedition trial of Jesus Christ.

Nicholas V. Olds, assistant attorney general of Michigan, charges that the conviction 2,000 years ago violated both ancient and modern codes of justice.

"Any appellate court would have reversed the decision, then or now," he said.

Every year, Olds prepares his case for the defense by outlining the principles under which the trial would be held today and reviewing the law and practice of ancient Jerusalem.

He will present his case this year during Lent at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Lansing.

He said Christ was first accused of blasphemy because his doctrine rejected certain forms of worship, the sacrifice of animals and other practices of the high priests.

CHRIST WAS arrested on a Thursday, and the trial before a portion of the Grand Sanhedrin, the jurists of the day, lasted through that night and the next day.

Olds and both modern and ancient Hebrew laws from night sessions of major courts.

"When they couldn't convict Christ of blasphemy they switched charges in the middle of the trial to sedition and even that didn't call for the death penalty," he said.

Olds said Christ refused to answer some of the questions put to him by the Sanhedrin, a constitutional right even in those days. "He was standing on his constitutional rights against self-incrimination," Olds said. "We think we just found out about the 5th Amendment, but it was a principle of law then, too."

Another error in the trial, he said, was that the guilty verdict was unanimous. Under existing law, one of the Sanhedrin was assigned to the defense. The unanimous verdict proved no defense was offered on his behalf.

"That's another point on which the verdict was void," Olds said.

Many Politicians Talking About 'Growth'

Lots of members of Congress are making speeches these days to the wrong audience. Many of the Democrats, and even some of the Republicans, are deriding a balanced budget and talking about "Growth" through bigger and bigger spending by government.

But this time the politicians are barking up the wrong tree—they may be convincing those of their constituents who think they are going to be the beneficiaries of the bigger spending but it is the investors who remain unconvinced and are scared. For the Treasury is up against a crisis in refunding its maturing bonds. Investors are seeking refuge in the stock market, which is recording new high marks.

Ever since the election last November, investors have been growing increasingly worried about what the Democratic party, with its overwhelming control of Congress, might do to the fiscal condition of the United States.

Also, many industrial leaders have held up their expansion plans. Unemployment has not been materially reduced, largely because of the failure of the heavy-goods industries to come back. This is in part due to the uncertainty about interest rates on borrowings and to the threatening rise in labor costs.

While there is a good deal of pious talk in Washington about proposed legislation to check abuses in the labor field, not much of anything is really going to be done by a labor-controlled Congress to remove the monopoly power from the national unions.

THE OUTLOOK for the heavy-goods industries is clouded when it should be booming. Psychological factors are holding up the fulfillment of many plans for plant expansion that were completed months ago. This is the "growth" that should be encouraged instead of discouraged.

Congress has failed to come to grips with the crisis. Many of its so-called "liberals" think the answer lies in bigger and bigger deficits and that it doesn't matter whether the budget is balanced. But the speeches along that line from Capitol Hill are scaring the investors away from bonds and fixed-interest securities.

While some of the speeches in Congress make headlines that mislead millions of voters — so many of whom are partially inclined anyhow — the investors of the country cannot be influenced by anything except sound economics and solid facts.

Here, for example, is an extract from the Feb. 14th news letter of "The Whaley - Eaton Service," a non-political weekly published in Washington for many years and read regularly by the very men who handle funds in the financial and business institutions of the country:

"The flight from government bonds is more ominous than most Washington officials care to admit publicly. Several recent Treasury financing operations have failed badly. As a result, the Treasury is being forced to run faster and faster merely to keep up with its maturities. The fact is that the richest nation in the world is now operating on a hand-to-mouth basis.

"THE EFFECT of all this seems utterly lost on advocates of dynamic new spending programs to speed business expansion, eliminate unemployment. The Treasury cannot spend more money than it gets through taxes and government security issues. Yet professional and naive investors both now distrust the latter. This means recourse to financing through the bank, which increases money supply and is directly inflationary.

"Ad Federal Reserve Chairman Marin puts it: 'Investors cannot be induced to purchase fixed-income securities if they fear a steady erosion in the purchasing power of the dollar.' Yet this is precisely what they do fear.

"Resoration of faith in the dollar requires facing up to the Treasury's dilemma. But that is something Congress seems unprepared to do."

ANOTHER penetrating comment comes from Aubrey Lanston, head of one of the best-known firms in New York that deal in government securities. In a recent speech before the Kansas City Society of Financial Analysts, Mr. Lanston said:

"I think it can be demonstrated that a close interaction has slowly but persistently developed between what goes on in the government security market and what goes on in Congress regarding proposed and actual federal spending and in the budget.

"Altogether it seems to me clear that the Treasury has quite a job on its hands. It is going to be difficult indeed for it to do much financing outside of the banks. Such a prospect carries with it the usual inflationary connotations. Therefore, if Congress elects to spend money over and above the 77 billion dollars, proposed by the President—for whatever purposes—the future inflationary potential will be enlarged. . . .

"I hope that we will find that Congress is fully aware of what is needed. I hope that we will find that there are enough people in this country who care enough about what happens to it to scream the house down from here on, so that Congress will not be tempted to be lax in its number one duty. This is to repair the condition of the government's finances and to make clear that the credit of the Treasury will be maintained — by promoting a stable currency."

These quotations are typical of what financial men everywhere are saying. They have been frightened by Congress and by the speeches which seem to argue that two and two can make five any time the government says so.

Roads in La Stuttgart

By TRUMAN TWILL

Life would have been simpler if I never had seen that story from Stuttgart, Germany, about a new way to build roads.

I could have gone about my business without giving road-building a second thought, which is what I have done all my life, except for a moment of doubt now and then.

The moments came when something about road-building didn't make sense, such as when taxpayers were being soaked for improvements that cost a million dollars a mile and a gang of guys with air hammers and sledgehammers knocked holes in the improvement to get at gas lines and water lines. That didn't make sense.

It didn't make sense, either, when piecemeal patching went on year after year, with patches being put on patches, all at so much an hour for day labor and no satisfaction guaranteed.

Nor did it make sense to see whole sections of road being broken up because something has gone sour with a fraction of a section.

And least of all did it make sense that roads are in use 365 days a year but can be built and maintained less than half a year, which puts too much pressure on good weather and causes a chronic deficit of road improvement.

These have been my moments of doubt.

That story from Stuttgart says Germans are building roads in a factory. The factory turns out concrete roads in sections, which are taken to the scene of the road-building, laid in place on previously prepared beds of foundation material — and there's your road, ready for use.

The operation is independent of weather. It could be done in winter as well as in summer. If it became necessary to get at something beneath the road, the block could be hoisted independently and put back into place intact.

If it turned out that the road had to be relocated, it could be picked up and moved. There would be no more guesswork about the thickness of the finished result. The blocks could be measured and inspected at the factory. They could be sent back there if someone erred.

The idea will give fits to road-builders, who will rush to the defense of what they are doing. They will declare that the Stuttgart Germans do not know what they are getting into — that there are 2,694 technical reasons prefabricated highways cannot be built.

The road-builders might be right. Maybe roads always have to be built the way they are being built now. But a taxpayer wonders. He wonders every time he sees road-builders mired in mud, smothered in dust, stymied by rain, or sitting on their hands while waiting for the beginning of another summer.

Nine times out of 10, the Germans come up with sound answers to the technical problems in this world. Road-building is a technical problem, except for the multi-billion-dollar money problems involved, too. If some of those billions could be saved, along with some of the bumps, taxpayers will want to know more about roads at La Stuttgart.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

About noon time on May 1, a voice familiar to all America will be hurled by loud speakers across Berlin's border of civilization into the Communist sectors. It will be the voice of the main speaker at a monster May Day rally. It will be the voice of Walter Reuther. For Reuther, it will be the second mass rally in as many weeks. The earlier one will have been held in Washington, probably on the mall from which loud speakers can throw his voice onto the White House grounds.

Walter Reuther is on the march. It has been a long time since he has hit the open streets. Except for a few strikes, he has not done it since the '40s.

True, Reuther will be one of a small task force of national AFL-CIO chiefs now being formed at labor's high command session in Puerto Rico. But it will be Walter Reuther's action program which will roar through the country in the next eight weeks.

IT WILL STIR virtually every industrial city in the nation. As Reuther sees the action program, there will be local rallies. Mayors and other city officials will be asked to come, listen, speak and promise.

The officials will hear of jobless men and hard-hit communities and factories. In Michigan, the political leaders will be told that unless something is done thousands of men will never work again.

It will be pointed out, for example, that a United Auto Workers Union survey reveals that the auto industry produced 80,000 more cars in 1958 than in 1957 — with 70,000 fewer auto workers.

It will be said that Chrysler, for example, can produce its quota without recalling — ever — 20,000 of its former hourly workers.

Out of the local rallies will spring delegates to regional and then state demonstrations.

Governors and senators will be invited. And from these stentorian town halls hundreds of delegates will be sent to Washington. That is the mechanism for the "March on Washington" about which you've heard.

The marchers will not be a Coney's Army. Nor will they be merely deputations going up the Hill in Washington. These will be hundreds of townfolk converging on the Capitol. They will want a joint session of Congress to listen to their spokesmen. They will want President Eisenhower and Labor Secretary James Mitchell and Commerce Secretary Lewis Strauss to listen and to promise.

THE SLOGANS of the '30s will be heard throughout the land — and the Capital. With unemployment high in scores of communities where workers earn their daily bread from construction, steel and coal digging, the speakers will talk of "poverty in the midst of plenty."

They will have more than rhe-

SAFE DRIVING TIP

Following a car ahead too closely can lead to serious trouble.

For every 10 miles per hour on your speedometer you should be one car length behind the vehicle ahead of you, warns the Chicago Motor Club. Don't swing to the right around left-turning vehicles if you can't see what's ahead.

Be sure before you change traffic lanes that the road ahead is clear. On the open road never pass on the right side.

S. America's Only Dictator Is Fighting War of Nerves

By JOSE MARIA ORLANDO MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP)—South America's only remaining dictator, Alfredo Stroessner of Paraguay, is fighting a war of nerves led by a youthful Roman Catholic priest.

Stroessner's land-locked country of 1 1/2 million people is a land of lators will be confronted by another of Gov. Michael V. DiSalle's special messages. Today's will be on his suggestions toward stamping out labor racketeering. He plans two others this week—on industrial development and national resources. The budget message will be delayed until next week.

The point system for tavern keepers, proposed by Sen. Julius Petrash (D-Cuyahoga) after a conference with DiSalle, is modeled after a point system for Ohio motorists.

Present liquor laws and regulations provide for suspension of law violations by permit holders and revocation in flagrant cases. The point system is the first proposal to set a cut-off point for habitual violators.

The proposal would set a limit of 10 bad points on each permit holder. Those who accumulated 10 or more bad points within a three-year period would be subject to permit revocation "forever."

Sales to minors would cost the permit holder five points. Sunday, after-hours or election-day sales; sales or possession of diluted liquor or refilled bottles; bootleg sales or permitting disorderly operation on sales to intoxicated persons would draw a three-point penalty. All other violations of the liquor laws would cost two points each.

The attempt to change Ohio's utility rate-making formula dates back to the days of five-term Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche. Present law requires the Utility Commission, in setting a utility's investment—on which rates are based—to follow a formula of "reproduction cost new, less observed depreciation." They call it RCN, for short.

Ohio is the only state which still uses the RCN formula. Since the Utilities Commission, in setting rates, generally allows a return of about 6 per cent on investment, obviously a lower rate base would result in lower charges to consumers.

In their 1958 platform, Ohio Democrats pledged a change in the rate formula to lower the monthly bills of utility users. The bill introduced Monday night was sponsored by democratic reps. Frances McGovern of Akron, Verne G. Riffe Jr. of New Boston, George Hook of Brown County, James P. Kilbane of Cleveland. The bill provides:

"In ascertaining the valuation of property, the commission shall determine the actual legitimate cost of the property of every public utility and railroad, the depreciation therein and, when found necessary by the commission for rate-making purposes, other facts which bear on the determination of such cost of depreciation and the fair value of such property."

The Senate passed three bills and sent them to the House. They would:

Increase the fees which may be allowed counsel assigned by courts to a maximum of $700 per case plus expenses against a present $100 limit.

Allow an individual to be prosecuted under a bill of criminal information if he agrees to waive grand jury indictment.

Prohibit horse racing on Good Friday.

Bills introduced included measures to:

Set up an eight-member motion picture board in the State Department of Education to classify movies as suitable for family or adult viewing.

Appropriate $668,400 for the Stark-Hugle Run Creek watershed development in Stark County.

Prohibit common-law marriages.

Withhold all government aid for those who fail to vote in consecutive elections without a valid excuse.

GEN. CLARK IS DIRECTOR

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark (retired), president of The Citadel, South Carolina military college, and World War II commander of allied forces in Italy, was elected Monday as a director of Dayton Rubber Co.

Firemen were called to the Russell H. Hackett residence at 1361 E. 11th St. at 5:10 p.m. Monday where smoke from a washing machine motor caused a scare fire. Fire Chief Clarence W. Wright reported today.

BEREAN CLASS TO MEET

There is a larger Indian population in Montana than in any other Northwest state.

fear and suspicion, gradually becoming more isolated in a continent where dictatorships have gone out of style.

Thousands of refugee Paraguayans are openly plotting Stroessner's overthrow.

One of the best known revolutionaries is the Rev. Ramon Talavera, 35, who says, "Some church leaders might disapprove of what I am doing, but in fighting injustice and tyranny I'm within God's principles."

The priest came to Uruguay last November after being expelled for openly preaching against Stroessner's strongman rule. Proclaiming a "National Liberation Front," he has appealed to other refugee Paraguayans here and in Argentina to join his crusade against the 44-year-old dictator.

Father Talavera, son of a wealthy rancher, says his revolt was born while serving as a chaplain in a Paraguayan jail where political prisoners were kept. "I saw men beat up, or with the burns of an electric wire in expertly used."

The Stroessner government has accused the priest of Communist leanings but he insists: "I'm not a Communist. I'm a Christian as are most of the Paraguayan people. In our Christian hearts, there is no place for an atheist doctrine like communism."

Stroessner, son of a German settler and a Paraguayan mother, rose to power five years ago at the head of a military coup.

The old cobbled streets of his capital—Asuncion—clatter in the daytime.

But when night falls, the streets are deserted—shrouded in fear and suspicion.

At no time does anyone publicly say anything against the government. Even foreign diplomats glance over their shoulders while discussing the regime.

Opposition factions look to the outside for help in overthrowing the regime—spurred by the anti-dictator campaigns in Cuba and Venezuela.

Marks Defeat Herrons 75-51, Farmers Win 75-56

Ramsey Hits 27, Chuck Edie 17

Playoffs to Continue
On Wednesday Night

Marks Landing romped over Herron Transfer 75-51 in their first playoff game for the Monday Division title while Farmers Bank had a booming fourth quarter to defeat Bennetts Greenhouse 75-56 in their first tilt for the Wednesday title in a double header played last night at the Memorial Building.

Marks, (first half winner on Monday) was never in trouble against Herrons (second half winner). They posted quarter leads of 18-11, 34-20 and 53-39.

George Ramsey tossed in 27 for the winners while Dean Nicholson had 21 and Bob Adams 11.

For the losers, Deek DeCrow hit on six of seven shots in the second half to pace them with 12 tallies.

Marks completely outclassed Herrons especially defensive-wise. Nicholson blocked at least six shots and hauled in a majority of rebounds.

These two teams will play their second game in the best of three playoff Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Bennetts led Farmers for three full quarters but then the eventual winners really came to life in the final period to outscore the losers 30-8 to go to post an overwhelming win.

Chuck Edie had 17, Dick Beall 16, Jerry Binder and Andy Salkow 14 each and Chuck Greiner 12 for the winners while Bruce Feicht tossed in 23 for Bennetts.

Bennetts, (undefeated second half winners on Wednesday) fell apart in the last quarter and in so doing let Farmers (first half winners) run over them with ease.

They play their next tilt Wednesday at 7 p.m.

Should a third game be necessary in either division's playoff, it will be staged Thursday evening.

HOAD BEATS GONZALES
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lew Hoad defeated Pancho Gonzales, world professional champion, in a tight tennis serving duel Monday night, 6-4, 12-10.

EARLY BIRDS — Paul Richards, whose best managing work is done with old pitchers, started out Baltimore's spring training by showing a flock of rookie throwers the major league form he'll look for at Miami workouts. Paul is an old catcher.

Loss of Schoendienst Hurts Milwaukee Chances for 1959

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There is no question the Milwaukee Braves will miss Red Schoendienst. We only hope and pray that the Redhead will be able to be with us before the season is over and be his old self again.

What Red's loss would mean to the club is important, of course, but more important than the club is Red's own welfare. The important this is for him to get well. That's everybody's prime consideration.

With Red out, the battle for second base will be among Mel Roach, Felix Mantilla and Casey Wyse. The doctors have advised me that Mel will be healed completely from his knee operation.

The rest of the infield is set. Both Frank Torre and Joe Adcock did outstanding jobs while playing first base.

On the left side of the infield, I honestly believe that Johnny Logan and Eddie Mathews will have banner years this season. Johnny just had one of those years in 1958 that every ballplayer experiences during his career. He's a solid shortstop.

Mathews has yet to reach his peak and this could be the year he does. There isn't a more valuable third baseman in the league.

We have a few ifs in the outfield. . . . Wes Covington's leg, and Billy Bruton's leg. If these fellows respond to treatment and a winter's rest I think we'll be in good shape.

Of course, there is only one Henry Aaron and I think, before he quits, this youngster is going to establish many hitting records. He is one of the greatest wrist hitters I have seen.

Andy Pafko is the same fighting Andy, and we have good reports on Jim Pisoni, the fast outfielder we drafted from the Yankee system. We also expect fine things from Eddie Haas, Al Spangler, Lee Maye and others.

Our pitching staff, which was tops in the league last year, should be strong again in 1959. Youngsters like Carl Willey, Joey Jay and Juan Pizarro picked up valuable experience in 1958.

We have the old reliables like Warren Spahn and Lew Burdette and relief artist Don McMahon.

In Del Crandall and Del Rice, we are well protected behind the plate. Crandall had his best year in the majors last year. Rice is the best No. 2 catcher in the league.

He was released by San Diego at the end of the season after winning two and losing five. Tribe Manager Joe Gordon recalled that he "hated to ask Lem to go back to the minors, but I thought it was the best thing for him. His ball just didn't move the way it used to. It was straight as a string."

"That's the thing we've got to look for now. If Lem can throw that sinker again he'll help us—in relief, mostly. With that sinker he'd be rough for a couple of innings."

If Gordon doesn't feel Lem can help, General Manager Frank Lane plans to offer Lem a job as a roving coach in the Tribe farm system.

Lemon says he wouldn't mind coaching but wants to find out first whether he can pitch.

"I told Joe I'll help out any way I can, even if it's relief pitching," he said. "I don't feel like hanging 'em up just yet."

Michigan State To Finish First In Big Ten Race

By The Associated Press
Michigan State is going to finish first and Wisconsin is going to finish last in the Big Ten basketball race. Aside from that anything can happen before the season ends a week from Saturday.

Idle Michigan State watched Monday night as two of its closest pursuers all season—Indiana and Purdue—were eliminated from a chance for a title tie.

Ohio State, beaten by Indiana 122-92 in Columbus earlier this month, defeated the erratic Hoosiers 92-83 in Bloomington while Purdue dropped a 66-62 decision at Iowa. Both are 6-6 and out of the running.

Iowa (7-5) moved into second place and Michigan (6-5) doomed Wisconsin to a cellar finish with an 87-63 victory in Ann Arbor.

Northwestern defeated Minnesota 79-62 in Minneapolis to maintain hopes of a first division finish.

Illinois (6-5) was idle.

Michigan State (9-2) needs but one victory for an undisputed title. Iowa is one-half game ahead of Michigan and Illinois who are tied for third. Purdue, Northwestern and Indiana are tied for fourth followed by Ohio State and Minnesota, tied with 5-6 marks.

All ten teams will be in action Saturday with Illinois at Iowa, Michigan State at Indiana in a regionally televised matinee, Michigan at Ohio State, Minnesota at Wisconsin.

Iowa led by 10 points at halftime and although Purdue never went ahead, the Boilermakers tied the game twice in the second half. Nolden Gentry topped Iowa with 18 points while Willie Merriweather was high for Purdue with 18.

In Ohio State's victory over Indiana, Larr. Huston led the Buckeyes with 26 and Indiana sophomore Walt Bellamy had 25.

John Ridwell and M. C. Burton nearly outscored the entire Wisconsin team in leading Michigan to a one-sided triumph. Tidwell scored 29 and Burton 28. Bob Barneson was high for Wisconsin with 12.

Northwestern's Floyd Campbell led the Wildcats with 21 points and Joe Ruklick hooked in 20. Ron Johnson topped Minnesota with 16.

Brennan Denies Story He Was 'Fall Guy'

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Terry Brennan late Monday night denied a published story that he was "the fall guy" in the Notre Dame football situation and that he is through with football coaching "because too much depends on luck."

The story with a Tampa dateline, appeared under Dick Young's byline in Tuesday morning editions of the New York Daily News.

Contacted here, the former Notre Dame football coach who was fired last Dec. 21, said: "Maybe someone else made those statements. I didn't."

"My only comment is what it's always been the decision was made by the university and it was their decision."

Lewis and Clark were in the Pacific Northwest during 1804-1806.

Kentucky Back In No. 1 Spot

Regain First Place After Winning Two

By The Associated Press
Kentucky, a team that gets up when the chips are down, is back in the No. 1 spot in the national college basketball rankings.

The 1958 National Collegiate champions turned in a couple of important victories last week to regain first place in The Associated Press weekly poll of sports writers and broadcasters which they had lost when they dropped a game to Mississippi State two weeks ago.

First they belted Vanderbilt 83-71 to wipe out their first defeat of the season, then they handed Auburn its first defeat, 65-56.

Although Kentucky is only third in the Southeastern Conference, those victories kept alive the Wildcats' hopes of again getting into the NCAA tournament, which they won last year.

Kentucky got some aid from an unexpected source in returning to the top. North Carolina, leader in last week's poll, got past its toughest rival, North Carolina State, then stumbled and lost to Maryland 69-51. That dropped the Tar Heels to third in the rankings behind Kentucky and Kansas State.

Auburn, second a week ago, slipped to sixth after losing to Kentucky.

The top ten teams with first place votes in parentheses (points on 10-9-8 etc. basis):

1. Kentucky (35) ..... 822
2. Kansas State (24) ..... 737
3. North Carolina (12) ..... 663
4. Cincinnati (7) ..... 598
5. Mississippi State (14) ..... 556
6. Auburn (1) ..... 461
7. North Carolina State (1) ..... 427
8. Michigan State (1) ..... 349
9. Bradley (2) ..... 256
10. West Virginia (3) ..... 146

The second ten: St. Louis 115; California 88; Marquette (1) 81; Texas Christian 70; Oklahoma City 58; Seattle 47; St. John's (NY) 41; St. Bonaventure 38; Portland 35; St. Mary's (Calif.) 17.

Six Vie for Scoring Title In Hockey

MONTREAL (AP) — The scoring race in the National Hockey League is in direct contrast to the battle for first place, statistics showed today.

Six players have a good shot at the scoring title, led by defending champ Dickie Moore, whose Montreal Canadiens have a 15-point edge over second-place Chicago.

Moore put on an eight-point spurt last week to gain the lead with 69 points. He has 32 goals and 37 assists. Chicago's Ed Litzenberger is next with 68 points, followed by New York's Andy Bathgate with 67, Bernie Geoffrion of Montreal with 66, and Jean Beliveau of Montreal and Gordie Howe of Detroit tied with 63 apiece.

Moore's 32 goals lead the league, while Geoffrion's 44 assists top that department. Bathgate is second in goals with 31 and Beliveau has 29.

Montreal's Jacques Plante still is the top goalie with a 2.07 goals against average in 58 games.

Cincinnati Star Leads In Scoring

Bearcats Blasts Tulsa 92-69 As Oscar Robertson Nets 36

By The Associated Press
Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati held a firmer grip on the college basketball scoring lead today following a hectic night in which red hot Kentucky overcame a deep freeze and Bailey Howell of Mississippi State set a Southeastern Conference scoring mark.

Robertson whipped in 36 points to lead the Bearcats to their 13th straight victory, 92-69 over Tulsa. Oscar's output was only three less than the entire Kentucky team compiled in turning back stalling Alabama 39-32.

Howell had 32 points as Mississippi State rode over Tulane 65-51. That boosted Howell's career total to 2,024 points, breaking the record of 2,002 set by Bob Pettit at Louisiana State.

Despite Robertson's performance, Cincinnati had a tough time getting past Tulsa. The Bearcats led by only three points with six minutes to go, then racked up 11 straight points to move to their 10th Missouri Valley victory against no setbacks.

Kentucky, back in the No. 1 spot in the latest Associated Press poll, was hampered by 'Bama's deliberate style and wound up in a 23-all deadlock at halftime. But the Wildcats started the second half with a nine-point scoring spurt before Alabama hit its first field goal.

Mississippi State clinched a tie for the Southeastern Conference title and a berth in the NCAA championships. But because of Mississippi's segregation custom, State may not take part in the tournament.

Auburn was beaten by Tennessee 56-55.

In the Big Ten, Iowa moved in to sole possession of second place by defeating Purdue 66-62 as Pete Schebler scored six points late in the game. Michigan whipped last place Wisconsin 87-63. Ohio State gained revenge for a humiliating 122-92 setback by beating Indiana 92-83 and Northwestern, holding Minnesota star Ron Johnson to 16 points, trounced the Gophers 79-62.

Ninth-ranked Bradley took a solid hold on second place in the Missouri Valley by edging Wichita 72-70. In other league games, St. Louis swept to a 70-58 triumph over North Texas State and Houston tripped Drake 77-66.

In the Big Eight, a 40-foot jump shot by Herschell Turner with five seconds left gave Nebraska a 62-61 victory over Colorado and Kansas outlasted Missouri, 85-81, in the Mid-Ohio League.

Indiana Upset By Ohio State

Win Eases Sting Of Earlier Defeat

By The Associated Press
Ohio State, in the midst of a rather dismal season, stole the Ohio college basketball spotlight Monday night by upsetting Indiana 92-83 on the Hoosiers' court.

The victory eased the sting of a 122-92 shellacking Indiana handed the Bucks earlier this month in Columbus. That contest shattered four Big Ten scoring marks.

Ohio State is now 5-6 in the conference and 9-10 over-all.

Elsewhere, Cincinnati rolled to its 13th straight victory and 10th in the Missouri Valley Conference, with a 92-69 sweep at Tulsa; Western Kentucky handed Xavier an 82-73 setback; Bowling Green downed Loyola of Chicago 86-70; Anderson of Indiana nipped Youngstown 71-69; Bluffton swamped Goshen (Ind.) 83-67, and Rio Grande edged Kentucky Christian 65-63.

Oscar Robertson continued his scoring rampage by collecting 36 points in the Bearcats' conquest.

In the Western Kentucky-Xavier clash, Ralph Crosthwaite scored 24 points to run his four-year point total at Western Kentucky to 2,034, more than any other Kentucky college player.

Xavier's Joe Viviano established a new Musketeer life-time mark by boosting his four-year point-production to 1,291. The previous school high of 1,287 was held by Dave Piontek.

Bowling Green had little trouble in posting its 16th victory in 23 games. Jim Darrow led the Falcon scoring with 25 points.

Anderson's victory snapped a 16-game home court winning streak for Youngstown. The Penguins are 15-8 for the season.

Bluffton assured itself of at least a .500 season by defeating Goshen. Bluffton is 10-9 over-all and 6-5 in the Mid-Ohio League.

Pike Scores 35

Blue Devils Top Struthers 65-51

Two big surprises occurred last night in the Struthers Class AA sectional tournament. In the first game of the night unheralded Youngstown Ursuline knocked off top-seeded Poland 61-50 while in the second game the Lisbon Blue Devils literally toyed with the Struthers Wildcats in recording a 65-51 win.

Jim Pike continued his sensational scoring for the Lisbon club tallying 35 points. He has scored 101 in his last three games. Lisbon was ahead 30-8 at the half and at one time had doubled the score on Struthers 56-28. Here Coach Jack Mills began emptying his bench.

Lisbon will now play Ursuline Wednesday at 7 p.m. B-hind Pike's 35 points for Lisbon was Chuck Faust with 16, Rudabaugh with eight, Thorne four and Reese two.

McGraw had 17 and Pudge Kosco 14 for Struthers. Tony Archibald tossed in 30 for Poland but it wasn't enough against the Irish. Tyndall had 17, Moore 14 and Hura 11 for the Ursuline team.

CARNIVAL

By Turner
"No more for me! I learned my lesson last time—my wife had to drive!"

Thursdays evening United Local's Golden Eagles will tangle with the Bears of Leetonia in the opening game of the Class 'A' sectional tournament at Canton Memorial 6:15 fieldhouse. Game time will be 8:30 p.m.

Bob Penrod's quintet has racked up an admirable 17-3 season record against Class 'A' opposition, while Len Batcha's young Bears are 3-15. Leetonia, however, has played a Class 'AA' dominated schedule. Leetonia and Columbiana are the only Class 'A' ball clubs participating in the rugged Tri-County league.

Despite the marked difference in team records, the Eagles will have their hands full with the sophomore and junior studded Leetonia quintet. The Bears don't have the height or balance of the Eagles, but they make up for it with their aggressiveness.

Jim Summer (6-0), Gary Lindsmith (6-2) and Frank Shagnot (6-5) carry the brunt of the scoring for the Golden Eagles. Jim Pike (5-11) and Les Blanchard (5-11) are the ball-handlers for Penrod's team. Summer and Lindsmith both have deadly one-hand jump shots and can hit from any spot on the court. To combat the six-ranked Eagles, Batcha will probably call on 6-4 Larry Radler, 5-8 Chuck Lippitt, 6-4 Larry Holloway, 6-0 Gene Leffler and either 5-9 Terry Tilley or 5-11 sophomore Jim Franko. The Bears play a fast-break offense compared to the slow, deliberate style of United Local. The biggest factor in a successful fast break, however, is getting the defensive rebound and very few clubs have been able to outbounce the Eagles. Radler and Lippitt are the top scorers for Batcha's team and this duo will probably be called upon to defend Summer and Lindsmith. Leffler is a rugged 185 pounder and will be counted on to garner most of the rebounds for Leetonia, although he'll spot five inches to the United Local center.

Columbiana's Clippers will face Beach City at 7 p.m. Friday in another first round game in the Canton tournament.

Leetonia, United Local Game Looms on Tournament Scene

Thursdays evening United Local's Golden Eagles will tangle with the Bears of Leetonia in the opening game of the Class 'A' sectional tournament at Canton Memorial 6:15 fieldhouse. Game time will be 8:30 p.m.

Bob Penrod's quintet has racked up an admirable 17-3 season record against Class 'A' opposition, while Len Batcha's young Bears are 3-15. Leetonia, however, has played a Class 'AA' dominated schedule. Leetonia and Columbiana are the only Class 'A' ball clubs participating in the rugged Tri-County league.

Despite the marked difference in team records, the Eagles will have their hands full with the sophomore and junior studded Leetonia quintet. The Bears don't have the height or balance of the Eagles, but they make up for it with their aggressiveness.

Jim Summer (6-0), Gary Lindsmith (6-2) and Frank Shagnot (6-5) carry the brunt of the scoring for the Golden Eagles. Jim Pike (5-11) and Les Blanchard (5-11) are the ball-handlers for Penrod's team. Summer and Lindsmith both have deadly one-hand jump shots and can hit from any spot on the court. To combat the six-ranked Eagles, Batcha will probably call on 6-4 Larry Radler, 5-8 Chuck Lippitt, 6-4 Larry Holloway, 6-0 Gene Leffler and either 5-9 Terry Tilley or 5-11 sophomore Jim Franko. The Bears play a fast-break offense compared to the slow, deliberate style of United Local. The biggest factor in a successful fast break, however, is getting the defensive rebound and very few clubs have been able to outbounce the Eagles. Radler and Lippitt are the top scorers for Batcha's team and this duo will probably be called upon to defend Summer and Lindsmith. Leffler is a rugged 185 pounder and will be counted on to garner most of the rebounds for Leetonia, although he'll spot five inches to the United Local center.

Columbiana's Clippers will face Beach City at 7 p.m. Friday in another first round game in the Canton tournament.

HOBBY IN A BOX

From the way the young lady was wandering around the store we knew we had a customer who hadn't the foggiest idea of what she wanted to buy.

It turned out we were right. She was out shopping for a birthday present for a nephew with an interest in photography. The boy already had a camera, she said. What was the best thing she could buy to go with it?

Well, that's a loaded question to ask any camera store owner. We turned over a number of answers in our mind before we realized there was one best answer.

So we took a Kodak Photo-Hobby Outfit off the shelf. "Here's something that can't miss," we said. "A complete home processing outfit for developing and printing black and white snapshots."

She looked it over and had to admit it added up to quite an impressive gift. A Printer. Roll-film tank. Trays. Chemicals. Measuring Cup. Stirring Rod. Thermometer. Film Clips. And a pack of Kodak Velite Paper. Quite a gift for just $18.25.

Sure she bought it. Giving a hobby beats giving just a plain present any time. Next time you're out gift shopping, come on in and we'll show you what we mean.
